Notes - please read carefully before making entries

- 1 Entry is by the BR online entry system only. Entries will close at 6.00pm on Saturday 9 March 2019. Entry fees will be £6.00 per seat excluding coxes.
- 2 All payments must be made online and received by the close of entries.
- 3 The start order will be drawn up at 8.00pm on Monday 11 March 2019 at Tyne ARC.
- 4 The start order will be e-mailed out to all clubs who have submitted entries as soon as possible after the start order has been compiled. The same information will be posted on the Tyne ARC website together with other documents, including instructions to crews and coxes incorporating local rules and possible penalties for infringement.
- 5 Prizes will be awarded in all categories where a minimum of two crews start the race.
- 6 Where there are insufficient entries in your category at the close of entries, you will be entered in the next highest age category unless you state otherwise with your entry, e.g. giving an alternative event rather than rowing up. We will try to consult you as necessary on this before issuing the start order. In high entry age group events we may band entries.
- 7 All events must be rowed within the divisions specified on the poster to qualify for a prize; crews wishing to row in a specific class but in a different division may do so for 'time only', but will still be liable for the full entry fee.
- 8 The event organisers reserve the right to cancel individual boat classes, divisions or the whole event beforehand or on the day if weather and/or river conditions dictate. In the case of a total cancellation of the event, we will refund entry fees pro rata once unavoidable expenses have been covered.

For a partial cancellation of classes and/or divisions on the day, refunds will be made pro rata for the cancelled events only, subject to unavoidable expenses having been covered.
- 9 Coaches are reminded that they have an extra duty of care to junior crews and should consider carefully if any crew they propose to enter is capable of handling potentially choppy conditions and/or strong stream or tide that can occur on the tidal River Tyne before entering.
- 10 Doubling or tripling up between divisions is positively encouraged (this includes competitors, coxes, boats and blades), but note that the event organisers cannot guarantee to provide a minimum rest interval between divisions, depending on size of entry.
- 11 All events will be in fine boats, which must be provided by the competitors and/or clubs.
- 12 There will be a Victor Ludorum trophy presented to the most successful Club on the day. This will be decided by a points system depending on the finish position of each crew in their event in each division.
- 13 All competitors must be members of British Rowing or another appropriate Governing Body. Crews racing must be as entered on BROE (but subs can be made on the day). Random checks may be made on the day.
- 14 This Head will be run in accordance with British Rowing Rules, the current Rules of Racing and under the British Rowing RowSafe guidance.
- 15 All coxes must wear appropriate lifejackets or buoyancy aids. Boating marshals may inspect some or all boats and any not passing the standard safety requirements including buoyancy, bow balls and heel restraints will be turned back; please check boats before you come!
